

Reference

This is our reference section. If you are an application developer programming against one of our APIs, or you would like to know what a specific term on your invoice refers to, you've come to the right place.

- The Cleura REST API reference covers our service at <https://rest.citycloud.com> that you can use to programmatically query your account usage, invoice data, utilization, and many other details available to our Cleura customers.
- Our Glossary has a list of technical terms you might find on your invoice, in a proposal, or in communications with our sales, support, or professional services staff.
